Sri Lanka Welcomes Over One Million Tourists in May 2025

DINUSHKA CHANDRASENA

Sri Lanka has welcomed over one million international tourists within the first five months of 2025, marking the fastest the island nation has ever reached this milestone in any given year. According to official figures released by the Sri Lanka Tourism Development Authority (SLTDA), a total of 1,006,097 visitors arrived between January 1 and May 25, underscoring a strong and steady revival of the country's tourism sector.

In a recent statement, Minister of Foreign Affairs, Foreign Employment and Tourism Vijitha Herath hailed the achievement as a major step forward in the country's post-pandemic recovery. "This is the fastest Sri Lanka has hit the one-million mark," Herath noted in a social media update, highlighting the government's broader goal of attracting three million visitors by the end of the year.

The last time Sri Lanka crossed the one-million threshold by May was in 2018, with a similar milestone achieved only by June in 2024. The 2025 performance not only beats these records but also sends a clear signal of renewed global interest in Sri Lanka as a top travel destination.

As of late May, Sri Lanka has already achieved 33.5% of its annual tourism target, with May alone bringing in 109,213 visitors, averaging over 4,300 arrivals per day. While a seasonal dip is typical during April to June due to off-peak travel patterns, arrivals are expected to gain momentum from July onwards, coinciding with the European summer holidays.

India continues to dominate as Sri Lanka's largest source market, accounting for 35.8% of all arrivals in May.

Adding to the positive momentum, Sri Lanka recorded over 1 million tourist arrivals by the end of May—a significant milestone that reaffirms the country is firmly on track to achieving its forecasted targets for 2025. This achievement is not just a number—it reflects the growing global confidence in Sri Lanka as a safe, vibrant, and diverse destination.

In another moment of pride, we extend our warmest congratulations to Uga Resorts for being recognized on Condé Nast Traveler’s Hot List for 2025. This prestigious accolade not only elevates Uga’s brand on the international stage but also brings greater visibility to Sri Lanka’s luxury travel segment.

Looking ahead, the industry is abuzz with anticipation as Sri Lanka Tourism gears up to launch its new digital campaign this June. With fresh creative, targeted messaging, and a dynamic online presence, the campaign promises to position Sri Lanka compellingly across key source markets. It is expected to further accelerate the country’s tourism revival and support both local businesses and the national economy.

Around 300 million tourists travelled internationally in Q1 2025, about 14 million more than in the period of 2024. Despite growing geopolitical and trade tensions, the start of 2025 saw robust and sustained travel demand, though results were mixed among regions and subregions.

The year so far has been filled with milestones, and if the current momentum continues, Sri Lanka’s tourism story for 2025 is shaping up to be one of its best yet.

Over 4,200 Americans visited the ‘Sri Lanka Embassy Open house’ in Washington D.C. joining Passport DC 2025

TTA BULLETIN

The Embassy of Sri Lanka in Washington D.C. opened its doors for American visitors as part of Passport DC’s ‘Around the World Embassy Tour’ from 09.30 a.m. to 5.00 p.m. on Saturday, 03rd May, 2025. Under the advice and guidance of Ambassador Mahinda Samarasinghe, the Embassy made elaborate arrangements to promote Sri Lanka as an exciting tourist destination. Over 4,200 US nationals, as officially verified by the organizers of the Passport DC, visited the Embassy during the event.

As a unique feature of the event, a photographic exhibition of over 80 colorful photographs titled “Beauty of Sri Lanka” depicting the ancient cultural heritage, natural beauty with a special emphasis on wild life and the people of Sri Lanka, was presented by the "America - Sri Lanka Photographic Art Society Los Angeles" led by Suriya Perera, Andy Samarasena, Lakshitha Karunarathna, Sameera Kotelawala and Riznad Hussain, captured the attention of all attendees.

The visitors were treated to traditional Sri Lankan hospitality and were able to sample authentic Sri Lankan cuisine having witnessed live cooking demonstrations of preparing of Kottu Roti and Hoppers, and Rice & Curry. The Embassy also offered all the visitors a freshly brewed cup of hot or iced Ceylon tea sponsored by “Basilur (Sri Lanka)” and “QTrade Teas & Herbs (California, USA)”. Sri Lanka Tourism Promotion Bureau provided valuable funding assistance for organizational activities.

Traditional Sri Lankan dances depicting up-country, low-country and northern dancing styles and drums showcased the vibrant diversity of Sri Lanka’s rich cultural heritage. The performances were provided at regular intervals by students from four local academies led by Chathuri Wickramarachchi, Lanka Mudannayake, Indika Attanayake and Achila Perera, and was a key attraction that captivated guests throughout the day.

The Embassy made special arrangements for the “Serendib” band, led by Kutila Dias, to perform Sri Lankan songs throughout the day, supported by local Sri Lankan singers. The performances captivated the crowd, offering a rich experience that highlighted Sri Lanka’s musical heritage.

Another highlight organized by the Embassy to mark the occasion, was a photo opportunity while clad in traditional Sri Lankan attire. Many Americans queued up to drape themselves in Kandyan sarees, while the men tried on vivid batik sarongs and shirts. Sri Lankan traditional handicrafts comprised of wooden masks, drums, bags, batik wear, brass items, paintings, Ceylon spices and tea were on display in three separate stalls set up at the Embassy garden, sponsored by Sri Lankan-American vendors that proved another major attraction for the visitors. A Sri Lankan-American-owned company offered tourism packages that captured the interest of attendees eager to explore Sri Lanka’s rich cultural heritage and scenic landscapes.

The Embassy delighted visitors by presenting them with complimentary packs of Ceylon tea, generously sponsored by Basilur Tea (Sri Lanka). This gesture contributed towards the promotion of the rich heritage of Ceylon tea among attendees.

On a request made by the Embassy, voluntary support was extended by the members of six Sri Lankan community based Associations in Washington DC, Maryland and Virginia. The Sri Lanka Association of Washington DC, Sri Lanka Ranga Kala Kavaya, Kala Lanka Foundation, Ape Kattiya/American Sri Lankan Friendship Foundation, Bethesda Api, Organization of Sri Lankan Americans for Sri Lanka and Friends of Sri Lanka of Greater Washington Area helped in the smooth running of this day-long event that attracted a large number of visitors throughout the day.

The open house launched under a special event, “Passport DC”, was organized by Events DC in partnership with over 60 foreign Missions based in Washington D.C. including the Embassy of Sri Lanka. It is a month-long festival in May that pays tribute to Washington D.C.’s thriving international diplomatic community and its lively and varied culture. As part of the festival, the first Saturday in May, the ‘International Cultural Awareness Month’ in Washington D.C., is devoted to Embassy open houses.

Organized annually, Passport DC showcases Washington D.C.’s embassies and cultural organizations with a wide range of performances, discussions, and exhibits. It has become very popular among Americans in the Greater Washington area (Washington D.C., State of Maryland and Northern Virginia, and surrounding metropolitan area), as it gives them a rare opportunity to enjoy many aspects of foreign cultures and traditions in a single day.

TCEB Unveils “3M” for Business Events at IMEX Frankfurt 2025

TTA BULLETIN

Thailand Convention and Exhibition Bureau (TCEB) makes a presence at IMEX Frankfurt 2025 with a debut of an initiative “Meet in Thailand: Your Success, Your Moment”, offering 3M elements to generate higher value for events.

The debut is made during TCEB press conference on May 20, led by Mr. Puripan Bunnag, TCEB Senior Vice President.

Mr. Puripan stated: “TCEB is always dedicated to making offerings that meet shifting demands of business world, so that holding events in Thailand can deliver higher value, better return on investment and greater return on experiences. After working in partnership with our stakeholders to overcome economic challenges, we have finally crafted “Meet in Thailand, Your Success, Your Moment” entailing 3M elements - MaxiMICE, Meaningful, Memorable – to offer upgraded resources and new ingredients in Thailand that will give a definition of events in a new light”.

MaxiMICE – This idea is to invite clients to explore and maximise new development of products and services or enhanced and upgraded offerings in Thailand. They range from enhanced accessibility due to increased flights, more capable and potential city destinations, new investment in properties, growth of unconventional venues, larger pool of qualified MICE manpower and standard-certified enterprises, richer options of localised experiences to stronger government support.

Meaningful – This idea is partly derived from TCEB’s policy to advance the performance of MICE industry under the framework of Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG). It offers clients possibilities of making more purposeful events with measurable impacts. Spotlighting on sustainability, Thailand has developed low carbon MICE routes, MICE suppliers certified with sustainable event management, professional bodies in designing, auditing and verifying sustainable performance of events. Furthermore, there are choices of activities designed to involve and benefit local communities in every MICE City and other potential destinations across the country.

Memorable - With strong hospitality, adaptability and wealthy cultural assets, Thailand is always in fit state to deliver return on experiences. Thanks to extensive network of stakeholders in the creative sector, event designers, local communities keen in the MICE industry and tech entrepreneurs, Thailand can help clients craft the events with unique cultural immersion and fusion, finely blended business and leisure, tech-driven execution, contribution to local communities, plus a sense of human touch that will make enduring memory.

Apart from 3M initiative, TCEB also presented major updates on Thailand’s MICE landscape comprising: 15 events from associations and corporations in Europe and the UK landing in Thailand, all 8 major convention and exhibition centers in Bangkok and its suburb being connected directly with BTS Sky Train and MRT Underground Train in May this year, Air France starting direct flights between Paris and Phuket in November 2025 and TCEB support schemes for business events and festivals.

Mr. Puripan added that next year in 2026 will be MICE Celebration Year to resonate with Thailand being selected to host a series of important events. Some key ones are International Horticultural Exposition 2026 (Udon Thani Expo), World Congress on Pain, Annual Meeting of the World Bank Group and International Monetary Fund, Global Sustainable Tourism Conference, UFI Asia Pacific Congress. Such large-scale events are a strong indicator of international confidence in Thailand’s readiness and potential to make events a success.

Tourism spending in the Middle East is projected to reach US$350 billion by 2030, according to a new travel industry report

TTA BULLETIN

A new report compiled by Tourism Economics on behalf of Arabian Travel Market (ATM) predicts that by 2030, total tourism spend in the Middle East will be 50% higher than in 2024, generating expenditure of nearly US$350 billion.

The ATM Travel Trends Report 2025 reveals insights into the trends and transformations redefining the travel sector in the Middle East and worldwide, including the surge of business travel, the growth of the luxury segment, and the boom in regional sports tourism. The report highlights exceptional growth in Middle East travel spending, projected to exceed 2019 levels by 54% this year and anticipates an annual growth rate of over 7% from 2025 to 2030.

Danielle Curtis, Exhibition Director ME, Arabian Travel Market, said: “The report’s findings confirm that travel growth in the Middle East is incredibly strong, with annual growth averaging more than 7% through 2030. Bold national visions, game-changing developments, and enhanced connectivity are some of the key factors driving this momentum.”

Underscoring the Middle East’s strong position in global tourism, inbound travel from outside the region is set to grow by 13% annually up to 2030 and outbound business travel forecast to surge at 9% per year.

European source markets make up 50% of all leisure travel to the Middle East, with India and the United Kingdom the top two inbound international leisure source markets. China is also a critical market, ranking third by value with leisure spend expected to increase by 130% by 2030. Furthermore, tourism nights by visitors from Asia Pacific and Africa, are expected to increase by over 100% between now and

For outbound travel, Saudi Arabia and Egypt dominate regional flows, while Thailand and the United Kingdom lead as preferred long-haul destinations.

The four largest airlines in the region – Emirates, Etihad Airways, Qatar Airways and Saudia – have placed nearly 780 aircraft orders with Boeing and Airbus, representing major expansions to their existing fleets. This significant investment underscores the region’s strategic focus on becoming a global aviation hub and meeting rising passenger demand over the coming decade.

The Middle East’s rise as a global hub for business events is another key highlight of the report, which states that spending on Middle East business travel will grow 1.5 times faster than the global average through to 2030. The region’s strategic location at the centre of Asia, Africa, and Europe supports business and leisure travel, with the latter on a particularly strong trajectory for growth.

The sector plays a vital role in developing the region’s reputation for hosting major events. It is expected to experience the second-fastest rate of business travel growth among all global regions, underscoring the increased potential for combining business and leisure travel, or ‘bleisure’.

Sips, Scones & Society: Colombo’s Most Stylish High Tea Lands at Gatz, Cinnamon Life

TTA BULLETIN

If “The Great Gatsby” had a fabulous younger cousin living it up in the 2020s, they’d definitely be hanging out at Gatz — Cinnamon Life’s speakeasy-inspired lounge where vintage glamour meets modern-day charm. With glowy lights, golden glam, and cocktails that sparkle (with or without the buzz), it’s the perfect spot to sip, snack, and soak in the vibes. And guess what? It’s now hosting Colombo’s chicest High Tea.

worries — vegetarian options are always available. Everyone’s invited to the party at Gatz.

Now let’s talk drinks. Whether you’re all about the bubbles or staying dry, there’s something fabulous waiting for you. The Zero Proof cocktails are bold, beautiful, and booze-free — like the Jazz Age (hello butterfly pea and Ceylon spice) or Abstract, a tropical blast of hibiscus, lime leaf, and pineapple.

Prefer something classic? Choose from an elegant selection of Ceylon teas, or cozy up with a cappuccino, espresso, or hot chocolate. Perfect for chatting, chilling, or celebrating something just because.

The magic doesn’t end at teatime. When the clock strikes 6:00, Gatz slides into Golden Hour mode — from 6:00 to 8:00 PM, the vibe shifts, the music turns up, and the champagne starts flowing. Sip on dreamy cocktails, groove to live local artists, and take in that golden glow. It’s the ultimate after-tea treat.

The main event? A gorgeous three-tiered stand loaded with treats — both sweet and savory — that are just as Instagram-worthy as they are delicious. Start with Cold Delights like tuna tataki on grain toast, truffle mushroom duxelle with prosciutto, and smoky mackerel rilletes on charcoal bread. Fancy, right? Then things get cozy with Warm Delights — think flaky chicken pies, spicy veggie spring rolls, and a cute little beef slider oozing with caramelized onions and melty cheese.

But save room, because the Sweet Endings are pure magic: dark chocolate tart, berry velvet cake, strawberry tarts, caramel petit choux, yuzu macarons... and yes, there are warm scones with Chantilly cream and fruit preserve. (Because let’s be real — no High Tea is complete without scones.)

Shangri-La Colombo Unveils a New Collection of Artisanal Chocolate Cakes

TTA BULLETIN

Shangri-La Colombo has officially lifted the cloche on its newest culinary temptations: a thoughtfully curated collection of artisanal chocolate cakes, launched at an exclusive cake tasting ceremony held this week. Available to guests and cake enthusiasts starting 1 June 2025, the range will be sold at the hotel’s Sapphyr Lounge and through the Shangri-La eBoutique, making it effortless to bring home a slice of refined indulgence.

Taking centre stage is the Pettah Tea Mousse Cake, the hotel’s signature creation and a heartfelt tribute to Colombo’s iconic Yaara tea. Drawing inspiration from the lively lanes of Pettah, this refined dessert brings together the warmth of Dimbula tea—Sri Lanka’s most celebrated high-grown brew—with fragrant cardamom and sweet condensed milk, echoing the rich character of street-side tea culture. With an almond sponge base, molten crèmeux centre, and mousse light as mist, the Pettah Tea Mousse Cake is not only layered in flavour, but steeped in meaning.

This signature cake is also a proud expression of Shangri-La’s global Rooted in Nature programme—a culinary initiative that celebrates sustainable dining through the use of locally and ethically sourced ingredients. Rooted in Nature aims to support regional communities and highlight the natural bounty of each destination. Through carefully selected local produce, the Pettah Tea Mousse Cake becomes more than dessert—it becomes a story of provenance, purpose, and place.

Complementing the signature are five new handcrafted cakes, each created with finesse, playful textures, bold flavours, and elegant detail:

- Café Ivory Gateaux — A

walnut sponge layered with mocha white chocolate crèmeux and chocolate mousse, brightened by a zesty orange compote. A cake designed for reflective moments and quiet coffee conversations.

- The H2 — A harmonious collision of hazelnut praline, milk chocolate, and a burst of passionfruit cream—a tropical escape in every bite.

- Burn Milk Coffee Layer Cake — Espresso-soaked Vienna sponge meets coffee caramel cream in this bold yet comforting ode to your daily brew.

- Milk Chocolate Caramel Pear — A soft sponge wrapped in milk chocolate mousse, layered with pear compote, caramel crèmeux, and a crisp butter crunch for texture and warmth.

- Almond Crunch — A buttery almond base with caramel crèmeux, whipped chocolate mousse, and a delicate milk glaze—both playful and elegant.

“This new collection is about more than just sweetness,” said Shangri-La Colombo General Manager Herve Duboscq. “It’s about flavour, memory, and place—each cake tells a story, whether it’s of Pettah’s vibrant tea culture or the quiet indulgence of an afternoon treat.”

Whether celebrating a special occasion or simply elevating the everyday, these cakes are a delicious invitation to pause, savour, and share.

SriLankan Cares Empowers Youth for Mangrove Conservation with Forest Department

TTA BULLETIN

SriLankan Cares, the Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) arm of SriLankan Airlines, recently joined hands with the Forest Department of Sri Lanka, 100 local fishermen and 40 school children to lead an awareness and cleanup drive in the Negombo Lagoon. Home to some of South Asia's richest mangrove ecosystems, Sri Lanka's coastal forests play a vital role in protecting shorelines and combating climate change. With pollution posing a growing threat, particularly in the Gampaha and Puttalam districts, this initiative was a meaningful step in engaging future generations in environmental stewardship.

Saminda Perera, Head of marketing at SriLankan Airlines, explaining the significance of these collaborative initiatives, stated, "SriLankan Cares understands the importance of committing to environmental causes in partnership with our communities, conservation organisations and regulatory bodies. By fostering collaboration, we aim to protect Sri Lanka's natural heritage in ways that also resonate with customers, who increasingly favour brands committed to sustainability."

A crucial aspect of the programme was the participation of 40 children from Ellakkala national school, WP NG Gonsalvez College Pamunugama and the Sunday School of St. Mary's Church, Negombo. Educating and involving young minds today is key to nurturing environmentally responsible adults tomorrow. Together with the children, the initiative highlighted the importance of preserving mangroves – turning awareness into action to protect local ecosystems and the livelihoods of fishing communities.

The programme also involved a collaborative research study with the Forest Department on public awareness and perceptions of mangrove ecosystems, sampling over 100 households from the area. Insights from the study will be used to develop long-term, sustainable solutions for protecting the country's mangrove ecosystems.

As the national carrier, SriLankan Airlines is uniquely positioned to lead conservation efforts. By partnering locally and internationally on strategic action and research, the airline intends to play a significant role in safeguarding the country's biodiversity through community-driven efforts for a more sustainable future.
